NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield, her lawyer, and a Mississippi youth died today when their car struck a trailer truck on narrow U.S. 90 in eastern New Orleans. The 33-year-old Hollywood star's three children were taken to Charity Hospital. A police spokesman said the children—Marie, 3, Mickey, 8, and Zoltan Hargitay, 6—were "not hurt too bad."

Police identified Miss Mansfield's male companions as Samuel S. Brody, her attorney, and Ronnie Harrison, 20, of Mississippi City, a small town on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Miss Mansfield had left Biloxi, Miss., about midnight and was en route to New Orleans where she was scheduled to appear on a television program at noon.

Police said the actress was decapitated.

The accident happened about 30 miles east of downtown New Orleans on a winding, narrow stretch of the two-lane route known as the Old Spanish Trail.

Richard Rambo, around 40, of Pensacola, Fla., driver of the truck, said the car appeared suddenly from the rear and ran beneath the truck's trailer. Rambo was not hurt.

A doctor at Charity Hospital said Miss Mansfield's children were undergoing X rays.

"None of them seems critical," he said. "We want to keep them here for observation, pending arrival of some relatives."

The hospital said Mickey suffered a fractured arm, while the other two were treated for abrasions.

Miss Mansfield had been appearing at the Gus Stevens Restaurant and Supper Club in Biloxi.

government on various occasions.

Hussein, who leaves Friday for Jordan, returned to New York late Wednesday where a statement he issued was read at the United Nations by Jordanian Foreign Minister Ahmed Toukan.

Urging the world to stand firm against the annexation, the statement added, "We do not accept any attempt which would secure any fruits of Israel's aggression."

What prompted the Israelis to disregard Washington's advice is a matter of speculation, officials said. They warned that if those who want to exploit the total victory over the Arabs continue to dominate the Israeli government, Israel might surprise the world with other accomplished facts which it did not do after its two previous victories in 1948 and 1956.

The hawks, the speculation here is, wanted to act quickly before someone, perhaps the United States, could stop them or at least try to talk them out of such action.

The annexation was the result of a combination of religious and political considerations, U.S. Middle East specialists believe. The former Jordanian half of Jerusalem shelters a number of Jewish holy places from which the Israelis were barred by the Jordanians.

In November 1947 the U.N. General Assembly ruled that Jerusalem as a whole must become an international city. The ruling was never carried out.

When the fighting ended, the demarcation or armistice line between Israeli and Jordanian forces was drawn right across Jerusalem and became the boundary between the two countries.

The United States never has recognized the city's partition and, accordingly, did not recognize Israeli action moving their government to their part of Jerusalem in 1952.

Pilkinton Proposes Convention

HOPE, Ark. (AP)—James H. Pilkinton, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor last fall, proposed today that the Democratic party hold a convention in April to nominate candidates for governor and lieutenant governor.

Pilkinton said in a letter to J. C. Mitchell, secretary of the party, that Democrats interested in seeking the nomination for the two offices could submit their names to the convention and agree in advance to abide by the convention's action.

Persons nominated would run in the Democratic primary unopposed.

Pilkinton suggested that the convention be held in April next year before the closing of the primary ticket.

"Any 'blood letting' would be in the convention and would be over in a few days, instead of over several months during the two primaries," Pilkinton said.

He said Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller "could still put a so-called Democrat stalking horse in the primary against the persons selected by the convention" but he believed "such a person could be easily identified and properly tagged."

Pilkinton, who lost to Republican Lt. Gov. Maurice "Footsie" Britt, said he believed the convention approach also would have a favorable effect on county committees.

"It would give them reason to reorganize, have a special county convention in each county to elect delegates to the special state convention, etc., and would perhaps put new life in the party on the county level, too," Pilkinton said.

Navy Won't Speculate on Attack

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy court of inquiry has refused to speculate on whether Israeli jets and PT boats knew they were attacking a U.S. vessel when they rocketed, machine-gunned and torpedoed the communications ship Liberty during the Middle East war.

A summary of the court's proceedings, released by the Pentagon late Wednesday, also made no mention of reports the ship was engaged in electronic spying on Israeli and Egyptian communications when she was hit June 8 some 15 miles north of the Sinai Peninsula.

The summary, prepared from a secret report, said witnesses before the Navy court testified to "significant surveillance of the Liberty on three occasions" from the air hours before the mid-afternoon attack.

But the document added that because it was not an international investigation, there was no evidence on whether the planes identified the Liberty.

The Navy court affirmed the vessel's right to be where it was, in international waters and produced evidence the Israeli armed forces "had ample opportunity to identify Liberty correctly," the summary said.

"The court had insufficient information before it to make a judgment on the reasons for the decision by Israeli aircraft and motor torpedo boats to attack," the Pentagon report said.

"It was not the responsibility of the court to rule on the culpability of the attackers, and no evidence was heard from the attacking nation."

The summary said the Navy court, which met in closed session in London and aboard the shattered vessel in Malta, found that the Liberty was in international waters, "properly

The four other nominees for the position were the Rev. J. Gordon Swope, archdeacon of the Diocese of Arkansas; the Rev. David Henry Lewis Jr., rector of St. Matthew's Church, Richmond, Va.; the Rev. Thomas Adams Roberts, rector of St. George's Church, Nashville, Tenn.; and the Rev. William A. Wilcox, rector of St. Mark's Church, Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Chancellor Kay L. Matthews ruled Wednesday that a suit asking for a temporary injunction to permit Life of Arkansas Insurance Co. to operate belonged in Circuit Court, and ordered it transferred.

The firm's certificate of authority was revoked March 6 by state Insurance Commissioner John Norman Harkey. The company filed a suit against Harkey Monday and asked Matthews to issue a temporary injunction so it could function until a final hearing on the suit.

YOU CAN'T KNOCK LOGIC

Dear Helen: I only had three dozen graduation announcements and I wanted to make everyone of them count.

So what happens? My richest aunt writes to my mother and says, I quote: "Dear Sis: We have four children, and you only have two. Therefore if I sent Mary a graduation gift, you'd feel obligated to send four through the years; whereas, I'd only have one more coming up for your family. Therefore, I'm saving you money by sending just a card. I hope you understand."

My mother understands just fine, but where does that leave me? --GIRL GRADUATE

Dear Girl: ... With one less present and a very logical aunt! --H.

Dear Helen: I'd like to share my experience with your readers. When I was a freshman, I started hanging around with this certain group of girls. Soon I realized it wasn't doing my reputation any good, so I switched over to the girls that fitted my personality.

It bothered me thought, because my former friends seemed popular with all the boys. I didn't think this was right, that "easy" girls had all the fun, and the decent type was left out.

I talked this over with my mother and she told me it would pay off to be decent. Well, now I'm a Junior and was never happier. The girls who stayed "nice", are getting all the dates to the proms and things. The girls who did everything for kicks are now the ones who smoke, drink and are swingers. They get the kind of dates I'm glad I don't have!

To all Junior Hi and Freshman girls who get kidded because they are "green," I say--STAY THAT WAY! At least you aren't all faded and tattered by the time you're 16!-- REALLY LIVING

Dear 12-14 - year-olds and your parents everywhere: Read REALLY LIVING and read her good!!!

The early teens are where the trouble often starts, for these young people look old enough; feel old enough; but don't THINK old enough. Too many of them, according to my mail, have no idea that heavy make-up is wrong --they haven't been warned about the dangers of petting, perhaps because their parents feel "real sex talks can wait till later." And so I receive letters which say:

Dear Helen: My boyfriend and I were making-out and we went a little too far. I am 12 and he is 13, and I am pregnant. I can't tell my mother because she thinks I'm a little baby yet.

--FOOLISH

Dear Helen: When I was 13, I thought a boy tried things because he liked you, and you were supposed to let him to show you liked HIM. That's what I heard from other girls. I came darn close to being a teeny-bopper tramp, because I was dumb, dumb, dumb.

Now at 15, I'm going with a wonderful boy who has never had romancing hands. One night I ertown, where she has studied since first grade. She won graduation awards in girls' athletics, music and scholarship.

"I immediately had a love for the piano," said Joy—who must learn the music by Braille, a slow, painstaking process.

"You learn a method of Braille so that you learn what each note looks like," explained Joy. "You read the music with your fingers, memorize one hand, adapt it to the keyboard, memorize the other hand and adapt that to the keyboard, then put the two hands together."

Joy also plays the organ and has taught herself the guitar.

Last year she gave a solo piano recital at school, and she has performed in music festivals in New York, Connecticut and Maryland.

Joy was a member of the baseball and track teams, and president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

In a typical game of baseball, Joy explained, "we have a pitcher, who throws the ball at us, and we swing."

How do you tell when to hit the ball? "You don't. It's hit or miss, but after a couple of times you get used to it."

In track, Joy has recorded 18 feet, 4 inches in the standing triple jump, 7 feet, 1 inch in the standing broad jump and 20 feet, 5 inches in the running broad jump—the latter less than two feet short of the listed world record for women.

Joy ultimately hopes to teach organ and piano, and play in recitals.

Joy plays the piano every Sunday at a Cambridge restaurant and will be music counselor at a day camp this summer.

Said Joy: "I'm not one of those kids who just sits at home and does nothing."

Homer Lifts White Sox Over Orioles

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I wasn't thinking home run," admitted Eddie Stanky, manager of rampaging Chicago White Sox.
"I wasn't thinking home run," muttered Hank Bauer, manager of the faltering Baltimore Orioles.
"I never think home run," grinned Wayne Causey, whose first circuit clout in two years lifted the White Sox to a 3-2 victory over Baltimore Wednesday night.

Causey's three-run eighth-inning homer wiped out a 2-0 Orioles lead and gave the first-place White Sox their ninth victory in the last 12 games. Baltimore, the defending world champion, has dropped 12 of the last 16.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City used three pitchers to shut out New York 2-0. Minnesota shaded Boston 3-2. Detroit rapped Cleveland 7-4 and California rallied to defeat Washington 4-2.

In the National League, Philadelphia edged New York 6-5. Houston dropped Atlanta 4-2. San Francisco battered St. Louis 9-1. Los Angeles topped Cincinnati 7-5 and Chicago swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 4-2 and 3-1.

Ron Hansen and Don Buford opened the Chicago eighth with singles against Baltimore's Bill Dillman, who was working on a shutout. Dillman retired pinch runner Jimmy Stewart at the plate on Tommie Agee's tap.

That left runners at first and second with one out and Causey coming up. On deck was Tom McCraw.

A bunt seemed in order but Stanky decided to let Causey, who now has 34 homers in 10 big league seasons, swing away.

"A home run never crosses my mind," said Causey, who had not hit one since 1965. "I thought I hit it off the handle."

The handle hit dropped neatly into the right field stands and then Hoyt Wilhelm stood off a bases-loaded Baltimore threat in the ninth to preserve the victory.

Bert Campaneris started two Kansas City rallies and scored both Athletic runs as Lew Krausse, Tony Pierce and Jack Aker combined to shut out the Yankees.

Campaneris doubled with one out in the third inning and rode home on Mike Hershberger's single. He reached second on Bill Robinson's error in the sixth and scored on a pinch single by Ken Harrelson.

Krausse, Pierce and Aker allowed five hits between them with Krausse, who worked the first seven innings, getting credit for the victory.

Dave Boswell pitched a four-hitter and Cesar Tovar drove in the winning run with a seventh-inning single as the Twins squeaked past Boston.

Boswell, who struck out 13, sacrificed Ted Uhlender to second in the seventh, and Tovar delivered him with his hit. Jerry Adair and Reggie Smith homered for the Red Sox.

Orlando Pena walked four men in the sixth inning, forcing the tie-breaking run across, and then Willie Horton delivered a two-run double that helped the Tigers whip Cleveland.

Horton's hit against reliever George Culver followed Pena's bases-loaded pass to Don Wert which snapped a 3-3 tie. A wild pitch brought home Detroit's fourth run of the inning as the Tigers ended a four-game losing streak.

Bob Rodgers delivered a two-run double with two out in the eighth inning that lifted the Angels past the Senators. Singles by Jim Fregosi, John Werhas and Rick Reichardt had tied the score before Rodgers' blow.

3 Americans Heroes in Tennis Play

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The Americans, who came to Wimbledon as the laughing stock of world amateur tennis, have become its heroes.

Three U.S. players — Cliff Richey, Marty Riessen and Charlie Pasarell — have set the tournament ablaze by toppling seeded stars when none of the experts gave them a chance.

Two of them — Richey and Riessen — took part in last week's Davis Cup disaster when the United States was eliminated by little Ecuador.

Pasarell didn't even see action in that competition. His form wasn't considered good enough.

Richey, the chunky, red-haired 20-year-old from San Angelo, Tex., scored the most incredible triumph of his life Wednesday over Tony Roche, the Australian left-hander who was seeded No. 4. After four exhausting hours, Richey won 3-6 3-6 19-17 14-12 6-3.

Riessen, from Evanston, Ill., demolished the Danish left-hander Jan Leschly, seeded No. 7, 1-6, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Pasarell, of Santee, P.R., staged the first sensation of the tournament by eliminating the reigning champion, Manuel Santana of Spain. He followed that up Wednesday by defeating another highly regarded player, Bob Hewitt of South Africa, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2, 6-4.

Riessen, for one, was still feeling sore about the Davis Cup disaster in Ecuador — even though the Wimbledon crowds applauded him back to the dressing room after he had beaten Leschly.

"Nothing that happens here can make up for our failure against Ecuador," Riessen said. "Even if I won the Wimbledon title it wouldn't erase the memory of that."

The three Americans were all considered to have a tough draw when this tournament started — and nobody seriously expected them to go very far.

Now they found themselves clear of the big hurdles with an apparently smooth path ahead. Richey faced Ray Ruffels of Australia in the round of 32.

Riessen had to meet John Cooper, a 20-year-old Australian, and brother of Ashley Cooper, the 1958 Wimbledon champion.

Pasarell was paired against Frank Tutvin, a Canadian who is studying at the University of Iowa and lives at Hollywood, Fla.

Two other Americans were left in the last 32. San Smith of Los Angeles had to play Australia's John Newcombe, the No. 3 seed, and Clark Graebner, Riessen's Davis Cup doubles partner from Beachwood, Ohio, faced Edison Mandarino of Brazil.

Roy Emerson of Australia, favorite for his third Wimbledon title now that Santana is out, had another easy victory Wednesday and now meets Bob Maud of South Africa.

Roquepine Has to Win to Repeat

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — All Roquepine has to do to win the $100,000 United Nations Trot at Yonkers Raceway tonight is to repeat her performance in last week's Gotham Trot.

The sturdy 6-year-old mare from France probably will go off the odds-on favorite in this premier harness racing event despite leaving from the outside No. 8 post position for the 1 1/2-mile test.

The reason is simple. The queen of European trotters is pitted against virtually the same field she conquered in the Gotham at 1 1/4 miles over a sloppy track.

Driver Jean-Rene Gougeon steered Roquepine home by 2 1/2 lengths over Style Setter of the United States in the Gotham, with Fresh Yankee of Canada third and Dashing Rodney of Italy fourth. These three again are considered the chief threats in the UN.

BATTING — Willie Mays, Giants, slammed a pair of home runs and two singles as San Francisco battered St. Louis 9-1. The homers gave him 13 for the season and 555 for his career.

Willie Hits 2 Homers, 2 Singles

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Anybody for a recount?
Willie Mays left a couple hundred embarrassed All-Star electors in his wake Wednesday when, a few hours after the announcement that he had been left out of the National League's starting line-up for the first time since 1954, he hit two homers and two singles in San Francisco's 9-1 pounding of St. Louis.

The peerless Giant slugger finished fourth in the voting for outfielders, receiving 39 fewer votes than Lou Brock of St. Louis. Willie is virtually certain to be named to the team by Manager Walt Alton of the Dodgers, but for the first time since 1954 he won't be a starter.

Willie confesses that "I'm not having what anyone would call a fantastic year," — anyone named Willie Mays, that is; he's hitting .293 with 13 homers and 37 RBI — but you couldn't prove that by the Cards.

In other National League action, Chicago won a doubleheader from Pittsburgh 4-2 and 3-1. Los Angeles overcame Cincinnati 7-5. Houston beat Atlanta 4-2 and Philadelphia edged New York 6-5.

In the American League, Chicago nipped Baltimore 3-2. Detroit bounced Cleveland 7-4. Minnesota clipped Boston 3-2. Kansas City blanked New York 2-0 and California dropped Washington 4-2.

Both of Mays' singles came in the third inning when the Giants scored six times, giving Ray Sadecki a commanding lead against his old teammates that he had no trouble holding.

The first homer was delivered in the sixth inning and the second — No. 555 of his career — came in the eighth. Both were off reliever Al Jackson.

The amazing Cubs made it nine victories in 10 outings with their pair of triumphs over the Pirates. Ferguson Jenkins won the opener, his 10th of the season, and Ray Culp allowed just three hits in the nightcap. Adolfo Phillips hit a three-run homer in the first game and ignited the go-ahead rally with a double in the second.

The Dodgers spotted the Reds five runs, then came back on homers by John Roseboro and Jim Lefebvre, a two-run double by Lou Johnson and three runs on Cincinnati errors. The last two broke a 5-5 tie as Ron Hunt and Willie Davis came in when Chico Ruiz bobbled a grounder by Al Ferrara.

Jimmy Wynn came in on a wild pitch by Phil Niekro with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth, spurring the Astros to their victory, which broke an eight-game losing streak. Jackie Brandt followed with a single for the clinching run.

10-Year-Old May Be Barred From Meet

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Children should be seen but not heard and not on the golf course with grown-ups, the lady pros say, so they're taking measures to bar their youngest disciple — Beverly Sue Klass, aged 10.

Beverly is so upset she could cry. Her pop is furious. Her mom is livid. Her two sisters, Sherree, 12, and Valerie, 7, just look and listen. They don't know what it's all about.

All they know is that Beverly, the youngest entrant ever, is playing this week end in the National Women's Open Golf Championship. After that, things look bleak.

"There's really nothing against the girl — she's terrific for her age," said Leonard Wirtz, tournament director of the Ladies Professional Golfers Association. "Our players simply decided she is too young for the tour. They compete in our tournaments."

Beverly, no taller than a golf bag, created a sensation when she teed up the ball earlier this year in an LPGA tournament in Dallas. Later she played at St. Louis, where she had an 82.

To make the situation even more bizarre, the terrific tot registered as a pro — a 10-year-old pro.

"We had nothing in our rules to prevent it," Wirtz said. "But we received some criticism. It was said we were using the little girl to sensationalize the tour and draw bigger crowds. This was not so."

Beverly's father, Jack Klass of Thousand Oaks, Calif., a building contractor, said it was a shame.

"This is sheer discrimination," he fumed. "Golf is a game of all ages. Why don't they bar 60-year-olds? This girl doesn't hurt anybody out there. She can hit a ball and keep it moving. She wants to play. It will break her heart."

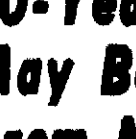

Klass accompanied his daughter here as did the rest of the family — Marilyn, the mother, and the two sisters.

It was papa Klass who handed the girl a golf stick when she was four and saw her take to it as any other girl would to a china doll that says, "mama."

Beverly won the Pee-wee Championship at Orlando, Fla., by the margin of 65 strokes at the age of six and soon was beating many adults. She was barred from public courses in California, however, because she wasn't 14.

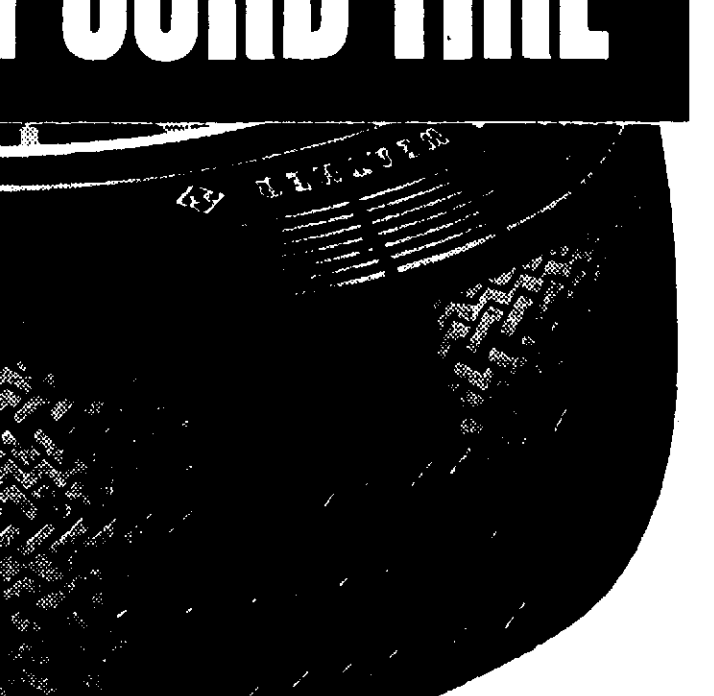

So the father turned her pro and put her on the tour, playing in summer months between fifth grade arithmetic and geography.

She says she wants to be the world's best golfer, but the Ladies Professional Golfers Association says she'll have to wait.

War's Hungry Victims—Arab Refugees

The plight of thousands of refugees made homeless by the Mideast conflict is among the first problems to be faced in the war's aftermath. With fighting still continuing sporadically, U.S. officials announced they were making plans to feed the thousands of Arabs stranded by the Israeli blitz. The number of refugees from the various Arab countries are shown above.

WIN AT BRIDGE

When Knowledge Is Not an Asset

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In most bridge columns the experts also seem to wear the white hats, like the good guys in westerns. But sometimes the experts do not come out best. Occasionally, expert knowledge works against them.

Most any bridge player will wind up at a four spade contract with the South hand. He will undoubtedly be faced with three heart leads and will trump the third.

The ordinary good player will decide to finesse. He will enter dummy with a diamond in order to lead a trump to his queen. When the queen holds he will lay down his ace and claim the balance when the ace play drops both the king and jack.

The expert knows a better line of play. He is interested in the best line to avoid the loss of more than one trump trick; not the line to avoid the loss of any trump trick at all.

Instead of leading a diamond to dummy at trick four he will play out his ace of trumps. This is a standard safety play that will insure his contract against any trump break except king-jack-small or king-jack-small-in the West hand and there is no way for him to handle those combinations.

This time he picks up the six and deuce of trumps with his ace. Then he goes over to dummy and leads toward his hand. East makes his king but that is all. Expert South has collected one less trick than the ordinary player South, but we wonder what ordinary player South would have done if West had produced the king of spades to go on the queen and if the next spade lead from dummy left the jack still unaccounted for. Would he finesse and play West for the singleton king or would he rise with the ace and play West for the king-jack?

We don't find out this time because the birds sang sweetly for ordinary South, for he wore the white hat instead of the expert.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Use of Breast Pump Will Keep Milk Flowing

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My doctor was able to force blood from both of my breasts. There are no lumps in them. What could cause this?

A—Since the bloody discharge had to be forced out, it is most likely not due to cancer but to small benign tumors in the milk ducts. A small tissue specimen (biopsy) should be taken for microscopic study, but removal of the breasts should not be considered unless a malignant tumor is found.

Q—Three months after the birth and death of my baby I still have milk in my breasts. I am milking it out with a breast pump. How long will it take for my breasts to dry up?

A—Using a breast pump will keep the milk flowing, so store the pump in the attic. Apply a tight breast binder and place ice bags on the breasts for 20 to 30 minutes three or four times a day. Your doctor may want to give you an injection of testosterone enanthate (Ditane) or some combination of long-acting male and female hormones.

Q—My doctor says I have cystic mastitis but no lumps in the breast. What is the treatment? Could it turn into cancer?

A—This disease is not malignant but a breast cancer can develop in any breast, cystic or normal. A woman with cystic mastitis should have regular checkups to make sure the nature of the disease has not changed. There is no specific treatment for cystic mastitis but wearing an uplift bra both day and night may give some relief. Hot wet packs are also recommended. In victims with severe unrelieved pain, removal of the breast may be necessary.

Q—I have three small cysts in my breast. They are very sore all the time. My doctor says to leave them alone. What do you think?

A—Follow your doctor's advice.

Q—Is pernicious anemia hereditary? Why would it appear in an adult who previously showed no sign of anemia? Does heavy drinking aggravate pernicious anemia or affect the treatment of this disease?

Palmer Sets Out After 50th Triumph

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MONTREAL (AP) — Arnold Palmer set out after his 50th professional golf triumph today in the tournament that launched him to an unrivaled history of success while the cloud of a possible future players strike loomed over the Canadian Open.

Palmer, who has won more money than any other player in the game, concentrated on his golf and skipped a late meeting of the touring pros that could trigger another episode in their long-standing and complex feud with the Professional Golfers Association.

Doug Ford, a member of the player's committee, emerged from a two-hour closed door session Wednesday with the curt announcement, "It's a very serious situation."

The players, seeking more voice in the control of the tour, declined to discuss their meeting, but an announcement calling the gathering said it would concern a critical veto power by the PGA Executive Committee.

This was supposed to have all been thrashed out in a meeting at Cleveland last week. But nothing was committed to paper and some questions have arisen.

"We're just trying to solve a little misunderstanding," Ford said. "We won't have any statement until the PGA Executive Committee hears from us."

He declined to answer further questions, but the prospect of a player boycott of the PGA Championship in Denver, Colo., next month appeared a distinct possibility.

Regardless of their actions, it was very unlikely that the current Canadian Open would be affected.

Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the two giants of the game, were the co-favorites with Palmer needing a victory to bolster his sagging prestige. He put it well himself.

"I'm probably playing as well now as I ever did. I'm just finishing second instead of first."

He hasn't won a major title—the U.S. or British Open, Masters or PGA—since the Masters of 1964. Since then Nicklaus, 10 years younger than the 37-year-old Palmer, has won two Masters, a British Open and a U.S. Open, the record smashing triumph of two weeks ago.

Carol Mann Shuns Role of Favorite

By ED YOUNG
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — In women's golf, Carol Mann, stands tall for a couple of reasons. First, she's 6-foot-3. And, lately, her game has been head and shoulders above that of many of her professional compatriots.

But Miss Mann's head was only near the clouds, not in them, today as the U.S. Women's Open Golf Tournament began at the Cascades Course. Lots of people looked up to her as the golfer to beat. Miss Mann demurred: "I don't pick me."

"After four players—maybe me," said the 26-year-old, talkative blonde who only last week out nine strokes off par in winning the Buckeye Savings Tournament at Cincinnati. "My game suits this course pretty well—but so do theirs."

She was talking about Kathy Whitworth, No. 1 money winner on the Ladies' PGA tour; Sandra Haynie, No. 3—behind Miss Mann; long-hitting Mickey Wright, and oldtimer Louise Suggs, who plays in only a handful of tournaments nowadays, at 44.

Why these four?
"Because they hit the high approach shots that will hold on these slick greens, and after they're there, they can put the ball in the hole. That's what counts in this one. Hitting the ball won't help you much. You have to read the greens to score, and these are written in Sanskrit to most of us."

Miss Mann was among 56 pros and 38 amateurs who started teeing off today in the $25,000 National Open, whose first prize is $5,000, over the hilly, par 36-35-71 Cascades.

25 Pound Parcels Can Be Mailed

Mallers will be able to send 25 pound parcels between first class post offices which are 150 miles or more apart starting July 1, Postmaster Brannan reminded patrons today. The present weight limit is 20 pounds, he said.

This is the first of five increases scheduled to take effect annually until 1971, when a 40 pound, 84 inch maximum size will be authorized between all first class post offices. Size limitations are now 72 inches in combined girth and length.

The next increase, on July 1, 1968, will raise the weight limit to 30 pounds. On July 1, 1969, the weight limit will be increased from 30 to 40 pounds; on July 1, 1970, the size will be increased to 78 inches; and on July 1, 1971, the size is scheduled to be increased to 84 inches.

Postmaster Brannan also reminded mallers that parcels weighing up to 40 pounds can be mailed between first class post offices less than 150 miles apart. Packages addressed to and from 2nd, 3rd, and 4th class post offices, Alaska and Hawaii are not affected by the increase in size and weight provisions of the Public Law 89-573, which became effective January 15, he said. Parcel post mailings to and from these offices remain at 70 pounds and 100 inches.

Suggestion for Faubus' Library

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said here Wednesday that former Gov. Orval E. Faubus' proposed library needs records of his administration to be "well-balanced."

Rockefeller made the statement after being asked if he would contribute financially to Faubus' library.

Faubus said Tuesday contributions for the construction of the library and restoration of the Greasy Creek School in Madison County would be accepted. He said he plans to include his collection of papers and documents in the library.

"I think probably the greatest contribution I can make is to give to that collection some of the records that will be the follow-up as a result of my administration," Rockefeller said. "We want to have that record well-balanced."

Barbecue Kabobs for July 4th Cookout

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If yours is one of the millions of American families planning a July 4th cookout, these barbecue kabobs basted with special sauce will interest you.

They consist of little spears of fresh mushrooms, tomato wedges, green pepper squares and meat balls basted with a tangy-sweet sauce and flavored by charcoal cooking.

The meat balls are bound with rolled oats and stay especially juicy, and are formed around stuffed green olives hidden at their centers for surprise flavor.

BARBECUE KABOBS

Barbecue Sauce:

- 1 cup steak house flavor catsup
- 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Meat Balls:

- 1 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 3/4 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
- 1 egg
- 3 tablespoons barbecue sauce
- 1 1/2 teaspoons onion salt
- 18 medium-sized stuffed olives
- 12 medium-sized fresh mushrooms
- 1 large green pepper, cut in 12 pieces
- 1 medium-sized tomato, cut in 6 wedges

For barbecue sauce, thoroughly combine all ingredients. For meat balls, combine all ingredients except olives. Shape meat mixture around olives to form 18 meat balls.

Alternate meat balls, mushrooms and green pepper pieces on six 12-inch metal skewers. (To be sure meat balls stay on skewers, thread through the olive in the center.) Brush kabobs with barbecue sauce.

Place kabobs over hot coals or in broiler 6 inches from source of heat. Cook about 7 minutes. Turn kabobs 1/2 turn. Baste with sauce; cook about 7 minutes.

Turn kabobs 1/2 turn. Place a tomato wedge on the end of each skewer. Brush with sauce; cook an additional 7 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Ex-President Modest When Discussing His Role as an Author

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It was just a small cozy literary luncheon at the Waldorf, but the hero of the occasion turned out to be far more modest than most authors.

But, of course, Dwight D. Eisenhower, throughout his career, has been notable for modesty.

"I don't claim to have a style," he said, with a bright smile that lit up the room. "I suppose I'm a hack, in that respect."

"All my life in the military, in preparing staff reports, I was trained to be logical, factual and accurate. That doesn't usually result in a very distinctive literary style."

In his earlier memoirs, "Crusade in Europe" and "The White House Years," Eisenhower set down formally for the historical record his activities as World War II commanding general and U.S. president.

In his latest book, "At Ease, Stories I Tell My Friends," the warm-hearted, boyish Ike of yore breaks through the frigidity of the command level. He tells a very human story of his life from Abilene to the White House. One critic has described it as the best autobiography ever written by an American president.

Eisenhower said he felt there were two more books he'd like to write, one a volume on the problems of achieving Allied battlefield unity in World War II and another on the personalities he had met.

"I'd like to give an estimate of them, if not as men then an estimate of the methods they employed."

At 76, the former president is still upright of figure, keen witted, and zealous in spirit, but steps a little more slowly and wryly admitted he lately had been getting in only nine holes of golf a day.

"Ike's personal charm is always seen best when he's talking informally to a small group. At the luncheon anecdotes flowed from him as freely as dandelions sprout on a spring lawn. Now and then a vagrant wistfulness shone through his words, as when he spoke of his dead mentor, the late Gen. George C. Marshall.

"He is the only man I ever met I would rank with Winston Churchill," he said, paying him the highest tribute in his power. Never one to dwell on rivalries or carry grudges, Eisenhower, even when speaking lightly, always is careful to point out the virtues as well as foibles of anyone under discussion.

Speaking of Gen. Douglas

MacArthur, he said, "Well, he always thought he could walk on water, but I was his good man Friday for nine years, and he was fine to work for. . . ."

"We did disagree on some things. He thought it was bad for a headquarters to admit making a mistake because he felt it was bad for morale."

"I had a different theory of leadership. I've always thought that the best thing for a leader to do who has never made a mistake is—to make a mistake, and then promptly admit it."

Over the years Eisenhower has been a student of success and failure in men's lives. "I do hope it can be said of me that, whatever my job, I was always useful in my work. That's what I've always wanted to be useful in my work," he said.

Jasper Receives Hospital Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Approval of a $146,191 Public Health Service Grant to supplement a previous Economic Development Administration grant was announced Tuesday by the office of Rep. John Paul Hamerschmidt, R-Ark.

The funds are to be used in the construction of a 10-bed general hospital and 20-bed nursing home to be built at Jasper. The facility will be the first hospital facility in Newton County. The Economic Development Administration grant was for $109,919.

Road Bids Total $1.3 Million

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Bids on the first major road contract for Hot Springs since 1953, a $1.3 million project, will be opened July 3.

The announcement Wednesday came from Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst and Reps. Ode Maddox, Hugh Beasley and Ray Smith. The last major contract awarded was for the Hot Springs-Little Rock highway.

The project entails making about 5.5 miles of Arkansas 7 from Grand and Central Avenues to the causeway at Lake Hamilton into a four-lane highway.

Bid Taken on UA Cafeteria

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The Harmon Construction Co., of Oklahoma City was the apparent low bidder Wednesday with a bid of $1,555,830 on general construction for a cafeteria at Arkansas State University here.

Three firms bid on the four-floor structure expected to accommodate

Jerusalem Becomes One Israel City

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli sector of Jerusalem and the Arab Old City which Israel seized from Jordan in the six-day war became one Israeli city today.

Interior Minister Moshe Shapira issued a proclamation reuniting the Israeli and Arab sectors of the 3,000-year old City of David for the first time since Jordan seized the walled Old City and Israel occupied the new sector in the 1948 Palestine war.

"Let us see to it that peace and mutual understanding shall prevail among all the city's residents," Shapira said.

Israel acted despite warnings from the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and the Vatican and increasing pressure at the United Nations.

The State Department said the United States does not recognize Israel's assertion of administrative control over Old Jerusalem and its shrines of Christianity, Mohammedanism and Judaism.

"The hasty administrative action taken today cannot be regarded as determining the future of the holy places or the status of Jerusalem in relation to them," the State Department said.

Earlier Wednesday, the White House made a public appeal to Israel to avoid any quick annexation of the old section of Jerusalem.

King Hussein of Jordan called the Israeli action "unacceptable and intolerable." Christian religious leaders in Amman, the Jordanian capital, protested.

Yugoslavia and 14 other non-aligned members of the United Nations rushed a resolution into the emergency General Assembly calling on the Israelis to pull their troops back from all territory wrested from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the six-day war. The sponsors called for action by Friday.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban countered with an announcement that his government would keep Jerusalem united and would administer the holy places with scrupulous respect to all faiths.

A spokesman for the municipal government in New Jerusalem stressed that Israel would provide free access to all parts of Jerusalem "and in both directions." This indicated that Israelis can go freely into the Old City while Arabs can visit the New City.

commodate 1,800 persons at a time. Total cost of the building will be $1,956,880. Construction is expected to be completed within a year.

Experiment, Not News; Our Letters

I was bound to happen. From the very beginning of The Star's process color schedule we warned our readers not to expect it to cover spot news events — but now we are beginning to get letters voicing this very complaint.

It's a familiar experience on a newspaper: You do something difficult, and immediately your readers ask for the impossible. I should explain why we have to ignore these complaints. Color simply isn't possible for the routine news covered by black-and-white pictures. Color is slow work, exacting, and expensive. I don't have exact figures as yet but the cost of a color run on even this small newspaper is between $200 and $300. And the complex photography required inside our building doesn't leave any time to make color photographs on the outside. That's the present picture, and any change will require years.

Whatever color you see in The Star isn't strictly news at all — it's merely the byproduct proof of experimental work which we expect will lead us into an additional business: The making of separation negatives for color work in other printing establishments.

Not all letters are critical, however. Here are a couple of nice ones:

Editor The Star: Mrs. Norton, the mother of Rebecca Norton, who lives here in Little Rock, and whom I am sure you know, brought me half a dozen copies of Hope Star.

I was impressed with the layout in these papers, as well as their content.

This is one of the finest newspapers I have seen. You do an outstanding job in supplying the news to your subscribers.

I was so impressed with these papers that I thought I would write you this note.

Editor The Star: We're deeply indebted to you and Mr. Jones (Star Mechanical Superintendent Billy Dan Jones) for the tremendously interesting session you brought to our members last Saturday, June 24, during our summer convention in Hot Springs. From the attendance and from the enthusiastic comments this must surely have been one of the most interesting portions of our program (Color comment and exhibit of reproductions from the Berkeley color separator). I had to miss almost all of the discussion, due to some duties I was handling, but I've heard many members talking about the work you've done. They enjoyed the opportunity to hear you and see the beautiful exhibits.

Teacher Bill Signed by Johnson

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Johnson flew to Philadelphia en route to a Texas holiday today to tour a antipoverty program and to sign into law the legislation extending the life of the National Teacher Corps. Johnson arranged to tour facilities operated by Opportunities Industrialization Center—a locally-developed program to train jobless adults, most of them Negroes, in new skills. The chief executive added signing of the Teacher Corps Bill to his schedule because Friday is the deadline for signing contracts, meeting payrolls and making new commitments before a supplemental appropriation expires.

11 Injured in Buffalo Race Riots

By AUSTIN SCOTT
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—At least 11 persons were injured by shotgun blasts as more than 1,000 Negroes, most of them youths, rampaged through this city's lower East Side for the second straight night.

Windows were shattered and stores looted in the turmoil Wednesday night.

The disorder spread to neighboring Niagara Falls where Police Chief John J. Collins rushed 50 helmeted policemen to the northeast section of that resort city following the smashing of several windows.

The disturbances mark the first major outbreak of racial unrest in Upstate New York since the Rochester riots of 1964.

The Buffalo streets quieted during the predawn hours, apparently because—in part—many young persons were so tired from the all-night rampage Tuesday that they went home to bed.

Crowds of several hundred rock- and bottle-tossing youths ranging from pre-teens to their early 20s kept 400 police busy firing dozens of volleys of tear gas shells along four strife-torn blocks of Sycamore Street.

Says Road Commission Was Favorable

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Orville Richolson of Newport, a spokesman for the Ozarks Express Route Association, said Wednesday the group went before the state Highway Commission in an attempt "to acquaint the Highway Commission with the advantages of the Ozarks Express Route turnpike corridor."

The group favors a turnpike from Kansas City to Memphis through Springfield, Mo., Mountain Home, Batesville, Newport, Harrisburg, Earle and West Memphis.

Richolson said the commission's reaction to the route was "favorable." Armlil Taylor, chairman of the Highway Commission, told the association a turnpike between Kansas City and Springfield had been advocated by Missouri Gov. Warren Hearnes.

Richolson said about 75 miles of highway would be needed to connect Springfield and Mountain Home if Hearnes followed up on the proposed Kansas City-Springfield route. He said his organization was attempting to organize support in Springfield for a Kansas City to Memphis turnpike.

Highway Commission Action Brings Anger, Delight, Frustration

By PETE YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Reaction of frustration, anger and delight greeted the state Highway Commission's decision Wednesday not to place emphasis on any turnpike route in Arkansas.

Armlil Taylor, commission chairman, said the commission had agreed to sign a contract to make an overall feasibility study of 1,200 miles of corridors and would not assign priority to any route.

The Turnpike Authority proposed Tuesday an in depth study of a western turnpike route and a Little Rock to Pine Bluff corridor, in addition to the overall study.

A proponent of the western route, E. B. Sparks, president of the Fort Smith Chamber of Commerce, said he was disappointed with the commission's decision but immediately projected other ways to finance the study.

"This turnpike is the No. 1 project of Western Arkansas and we are not going to quit now," Sparks said, adding it was his understanding that the authority could accept money from areas that desired to have

Monticello Crash Fatal

MONTICELLO, Ark. (AP)—Robert Wesley Hammill, 57, of Monticello, was killed instantly Wednesday and two other persons injured in a one-vehicle crash on Arkansas 83 about six miles north of here.

State Police said Hammill apparently lost control of his truck. Authorities said Roly Marshawha of Pickets, a passenger in the truck, was hospitalized. Marvin Boyd of Monticello, another passenger, was not seriously injured.

The organization is promoting a display of patriotism for the July 4 holiday. Chuck Connors, television star and national chairman of the organization, named Stallings to the committee.

Pressure on Israel to Give Up City

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Pressure mounted on Israel today at the emergency session of the U.N. General Assembly to reverse its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem.

Fifteen nonaligned nations submitted a resolution to the Assembly Wednesday calling on the Israeli government to withdraw its troops from all the territory seized from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the six-day war that began June 5.

Introducing the resolution, Ambassador Danilo Lekic of Yugoslavia said the Old City was threatened with full integration into Israel and called for the 122-nation Assembly to adopt his resolution by Friday.

But meanwhile the Israeli government accomplished the integration with a proclamation enlarging the city limits of "Israeli Jerusalem" to include the Old City and some adjacent territory seized from Jordan.

Another resolution was reported in preparation expressing concern over steps the Israelis have taken regarding the Old City, declaring these invalid, and calling on Israel to do nothing further to prejudice the future status of the Old City.

Under the original U.N. partition plan for Palestine, Jerusalem was to be an international city, but Israel took the new part of the city during the 1948-49 Palestine war and Jordan seized the Old City.

Blackwell Can't Agree With Taylor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lawrence Blackwell of Pine Bluff, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's only appointee to the state Highway Commission, said Wednesday the prepared statement issued by the commission was that of the commission as a whole, including him.

The commission said in the statement that if there is any lack of communication between Rockefeller and the commission, as Rockefeller has charged, it is not the fault of the commission.

Blackwell said he could not agree with a statement by Armlil Taylor, commission chairman, who charged that the differences between the commission and Rockefeller were strictly political.

Blackwell said there were no strings attached to his appointment and he did not "come on the commission as anybody's errand boy."

Civilians Meet at Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Carl Ulling of Pine Bluff was awarded the International City award Wednesday at the 47th Civitan International Convention here.

Eddie Lunn of Nashville, Tenn., was elected president-elect and Francis Essie of Nisenheimer, N.C. became Civitan president.

Vice Presidents elected were Leslie Armstrong of Toronto, Canada from zone 7, William Hachnel of Austin, Tex., from zone 8, and Richard M. McMillan of Corvallis, Oregon from zone 10.

The Civitan Founder's award went to Greenville, S.C. as the top club for the past year.

Girl Drowned While Wading

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Cheryl Seward, 12, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Seward of Little Rock, drowned Wednesday while wading in a lake at Twin Lakes subdivision.

Authorities said the girl stepped into a hole. The girl was pulled from the lake by a resident of the area but she failed to respond to resuscitation.

Jerusalem Annexation Sours Meeting Between Johnson and Hussein

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials report privately the Israeli annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem soured the atmosphere of President Johnson's first conference with King Hussein of Jordan since that Arab nation lost its war with Israel.

Officials also said they believed the annexation of the Jordanian sector was timed to coincide with the meeting Wednesday. Whether deliberately timed or not, it reportedly cast a pall over the Johnson-Hussein talks despite two U.S. warnings during the day against the annexation.

About the only public report of the meeting came from George Christian, White House press secretary, who said the two leaders reached "no identity of views" at their working luncheon.

Officials also said they expect neither warning to have much effect on Israeli leaders. The annexation, they added, proves that hawks dominate Israeli political life.

The first warning, issued by the White House, urged Israel to avoid any quick annexation of the Old City, which it occupied during the Arab-Israeli war earlier this month.

Shortly after the annexation, the State Department denounced the merger as a "hasty administrative action" and served notice the United States would not recognize it.

Both statements referred to Johnson's June 19 speech on the Middle East which counseled "adequate recognition of the special interests of the three great religions in the holy places of Jerusalem."

This view, officials said, has been made clear to the Israeli

Says Voters for Change in Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—House Speaker Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock said Wednesday the "important task of revising our 1874 Constitution will be accomplished and ratified by the voters" if all concerned understand their duties.

Cockrill, in a letter to the members of the Arkansas House of Representatives, said it was the duty of the legislators to see that the present constitution is changed.

Cockrill said he understood the Constitutional Revision Study Commission had authorized the preparation of proposed legislation to be presented when a special session is called. He said he felt it was proper for the commission to write the legislation for the General Assembly to consider.

He said he understood the commission is considering the writing of a completely revised constitution but he did not know whether the legislature will be asked to certify it to the ballot.

War Deaths 274-1,258 Wounded

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP)—A crack battalion of some 500 hard-core Communist guerrillas fled away into the jungles today after a running two-day battle in which it badly bloodied a South Vietnamese ranger battalion and evaded a searching force of more than 2,500 allied troops.

Associated Press correspondent George Esper reported from the battle area that U.S. officers believe the Viet Cong unit scattered after more than 21 hours of heavy fighting over the two previous days.

Unofficial reports from the field said 163 South Vietnamese troops were missing, 9 were known dead and 119 had been wounded.

The running battle 40 miles northeast of Saigon matched the pattern of hit-and-run engagements that have sent U.S. casualties up sharply in recent days. The weekly casualty report released today said 274 Americans were killed and 1,258 were wounded last week. The death toll was almost double that of the week before.

The American dead were also more than double the South Vietnamese figure of 119 for the week. Enemy casualties totaled 1,905 dead, the U.S. Command said, compared with 1,801 the week before.

Information on the battle northeast of Saigon was sketchy. Esper reported that South Vietnamese casualties were heavy but no figures were available.

The worst losses appeared to have been inflicted on a ranger battalion shortly after it closed on the Viet Cong unit.

Several helicopters were possibly downed in the ranger landing but details were lacking.

NEVADA—Expansion of area headquarters on Arkansas 19, $22,500.

Signatures Plentiful in Dairy Deal

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Opponents to the bill which would establish an Arkansas Dairy Commission have almost 16,000 signatures more than they need to refer the act to a vote. Secretary of State Kelly Bryant said Wednesday.

Bryant said 35,813 signatures were required to get the act on the 1968 general election ballot. And that the 2,104 approved petitions he received from the Committee in Opposition to Milk Price Control contained 57,393 signatures.

L. C. Baber, a committee member, issued a statement in which he said the referendum would allow Arkansas to give the proposal further study.

Reluctantly, Thant Blames Mr. Nasser

WASHINGTON (AP)—U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, is a mild Burmese who likes bacon and eggs and can get in a jam by saying too much or saying too little.

Five years ago what he said wasn't much but it turned out to be too much. He was trying to reunify the Congo at the time and got angry at the leaders of the secessionist Katanga government. He called them a "bunch of clowns."

He was criticized for that. This year, and he still stings from it, he was criticized for saying too little, or nothing at all, instead of consulting the U.N. General Assembly or the Security Council when Egypt told him to pull his U.N. peace-keeping troops out of Egypt immediately.

He did so promptly. And from that point relations between Israel and the Arabs headed straight for the short war which started this month and lasted less than a week, with the Arabs winding up on the short end.

Protests piled up on him. The climax came last week in the United Nations when Israel's foreign minister, Abba Eban, said Thant had acted "disastrously swift" in yielding to the demands of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

This really irritated Thant who quickly issued a statement that explained he had no choice, that Nasser had voluntarily allowed the U.N. force to stand on the Egyptian side of the border with Israel and could therefore order them out when he wished.

In the course of this Thant implied Israel was in a poor position to complain that the U.N. troops had been pulled out of Egypt since Israel never permitted them inside Israel at all.

The Eban attack must have been a sore harpoon for this week Thant fired back again in his own defense, this time with such a detailed and lengthy statement that it took up almost three full newspaper pages.

He didn't need all that room. But his explanation—which in part was a repetition of his answer to Eban—squarely put the finger on Egypt as the one who precipitated the war.

Now almost a month after the war the biggest unanswered question—and Thant didn't answer it, either—is still: who fired the first shot? But from Thant's explanation it was Egypt which lit the fire.

He said in mid-May the Egyptians told him to remove U.N. troops immediately from El Sabha in the northeast corner of the Sinai Peninsula, right on the border with Israel, and from Sharm el Sheikh, in the southeast corner of Sinai, a point which can control shipping into the Gulf of Aqaba.

When Thant didn't act fast enough, Egyptian soldiers took over in both places and it wasn't long before Nasser decided to blockade the Gulf of Aqaba. This became the sorest point of all in Israeli-Arab relations.

In his statement Thant said the long, simmering hostility between Israel and Egypt—he called it a "direct confrontation"—was made to bubble and boil by Egypt's decision "to move its forces up to the line."

But Israel didn't look good in Thant's explanation, either.

Thant pointed out that when Israel's delegate to the United Nations went to him to protest the U.N. withdrawal, on Nasser's demand, the complaint was that Nasser alone should not be permitted to demand and get the withdrawal.

But since Israel didn't want the U.N. force removed from Egypt, but Egypt did, Thant said he asked the Israeli delegate if Israel would permit the U.N. troops to move over and take up their peace-keeping role on the Israeli side of the border.

Thant said the Israeli delegate said such an idea was "entirely unacceptable to his government."

Last year, when his first full term as secretary-general was expiring, Thant, who had been an educator and a newspaperman, said he had had enough and wanted to retire.

But, if he did, it seemed to mean a long struggle between the United States and Soviet Union before they could agree on a successor. They could both accept Thant, so he was persuaded to stay.

Now he probably wishes he hadn't.

Arkansan One of Two Fiery Deaths

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP)—A Texas truck driver and an Arkansas man burned to death Wednesday in the fiery collision of a truck and a stalled automobile in East Texas.

The victims were identified as Jack Ogden, 44, of Tenaha, Tex., and Don Heffle of Springdale, Ark.

Heffle's companion, Danny Lee Lane, 19, of Springdale, suffered burns and was taken to a hospital at Henderson. His burns were not considered serious.

Witnesses say the truck burst into flames after colliding with the car. Flaming diesel fuel covered both vehicles and burned over a wide area of the roadway.

Deaths Aboard the Liberty Were Quick

EDITORS NOTE — AP military writer Bob Horton was aboard the USS America on June 11 and there interviewed a survivor of the Israeli attack on the American ship Liberty three days before. Here, in counterpoint to a Pentagon account of the attack published Wednesday, is the way one survivor remembers it.

Liberty Deaths

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's account of the Israeli attack on the USS Liberty presents a picture of almost mercifully quick deaths among the crew. One survivor remembers it differently and tells how at least one man was sealed in flooding hatches.

In a condensation of the Navy court of inquiry's findings on the attack, which killed 34 men, the Pentagon reported 23 died instantly from an Israeli torpedo blast.

"Those few not killed outright escaped from the compartments," the Pentagon said Wednesday.

"The court," the Pentagon said, "heard testimony from witnesses, including a salvage expert, who stated that beyond a shadow of a doubt those who died there were killed instantly by the blast."

"None could have survived, trapped in the compartment, to mean a suffocation or drowning."

But one of the Liberty's wounded crewmen told newsmen aboard the carrier USS America on June 11, three days after the attack, of a young Marine who bravely tried to rescue companions from flooded areas of the ship.

Seaman Kenneth Ecker of Watseka, Ill., said the Marine helped some crewmen from water-swept hatches and returned below deck to assist others. The implication was that others were alive.

"He never came back," Ecker said. "Water was pouring in the torpedo hole so fast they had to close the hatch."

Only 9 bodies of the 34 dead were recovered the first two days after the attack.

Ecker said the Marine was a corporal who boarded the Liberty only one week before when the communications ship stopped at Rota, Spain, for fuel and supplies en route to the Mediterranean.

The Pentagon's list of the dead names two Marines, one Cpl. Edward E. Rehmyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Rehmyer Jr., of Railroad, Pa. The other Marine was a sergeant.

It could not be determined Wednesday night whether Ecker was called to testify before the court.

Ecker, an 18-year-old radio-man, was lucky.

He put on his steel helmet when Israeli planes bore down on the ship. At least eight chunks of shrapnel or pieces of bullets struck his helmet, one penetrating and bouncing off his head. One hole in the helmet was nearly an inch in diameter.

Ecker, knocked from his feet, suffered a one-inch scalp cut and a headache, but wasn't seriously hurt.

The captain of the Liberty, Cmdr. William L. McGonagle, was among the 75 wounded. He was hit by shrapnel in the leg, but continued directing the ship.

The report gave high praise to McGonagle, as well as to the entire crew, and said he has been recommended for an individual award.

Federal Aid for State $16 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arkansas will receive more than $16 million in federal aid highway funds because of the Federal Highway Administration's decision Wednesday to release $1.6 billion in federal funds.

Included in the funds is $515 million in highway aid which was deferred last November as anti-inflationary move. President Johnson ordered more than $1 billion in highway funds withheld in November.

The other $1.1 billion released Wednesday constitutes the regular first-quarter apportionment of highway funds for fiscal year 1968. The fiscal year begins July 1.

Arkansas will receive $6,764,891 in funds previously frozen and $9,922,000 in funds for the next quarter.

GOPs Banking Money for Gov. Reagan

By BILL BOYARSKY
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Republicans are banking money and political credit in California in hopeful anticipation of the day when Gov. Ronald Reagan will be propelled directly into the race for the 1968 presidential nomination.

Reagan is looming ever larger in the wings, although he has no visible organization and continues to insist that "I am not a candidate for anything except to be a favorite son here in our own state."

Nevertheless, signs are mounting steadily that the same Republicans who eagerly supported his resounding capture of the governorship last November are convinced Reagan can lead the party back into the White House.

And Reagan has indicated he wouldn't reject a draft.

"If all the party should come knocking at my door, I guess I wouldn't say, 'Go away fellows,'" he said this week in an interview.

It's no secret that California Republicans are yearning for Reagan's nomination. Dr. Max Rafferty, superintendent of public instruction and one of the state's best vote getters, complained that he came away empty handed when he tried to line up contributors to finance a primary race against Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel. Wealthy Republicans, said Rafferty, "make no bones about the fact that they are planning and hoping" for deadlock at the 1968 convention that will hand the nomination to Reagan.

That convention appears more and more to be shaping up as an uninhibited scramble.

Many signs point to a drift away from the two top contenders, Michigan's Gov. George Romney and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Party conservatives are moving toward Reagan; moderates are talking about another governor who insists that he isn't a candidate, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The shifts showed up at the recent Young Republican convention in Omaha, Neb., and again at the Conference of Western Governors in West Yellowstone, Mont.

Oregon's Gov. Tom McCall—"I've been a Rockefeller man all along"—told Republican liberals and moderates at West Yellowstone Reagan was "about the hottest piece of political property" in the nation.

"He has more going for him than any political figure in the United States today," said McCall.

that could delay state action to equalize districts until 1972 has spread a fog of confusion over Capitol Hill.

The House is scheduled to vote today on the measure — worked out by House and Senate conferees — but few members profess knowing just what it does.

By its terms it provides that no state would be required to redistrict in accordance with the Supreme Court's one man-one vote mandate until after a federal census. The next regular census will be taken in 1970.

One of many questions raging unanswered through the House Tuesday was the effect the proposal would have on lower courts, which have been moving vigorously to enforce the Supreme Court ruling.

"If this means the courts shall do nothing until 1972," said Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., "then it amounts to a postponement of a constitutional right and Congress can't do that by simple statute.

"If it is just advisory and the courts can go ahead as they have, then it is meaningless."

Conyers was the only House member of the conference committee to vote against the bill, which is a compromise of sorts between different measures passed by the House and Senate. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., was the only Senate conferee to dissent.

The original House bill provided that for the 1968 and 1970 elections, a variant of up to 30 per cent between the smallest and largest districts in each state would be all right, with the margin dropping to 10 per cent in 1972.

The Senate bill, adopted on the floor on Kennedy's motion, put the 10 per cent limit into effect at once — which would have meant reapportionment in 33 states before the 1968 elections.

Most House members expected a balance to be struck somewhere between 10 per cent and 30 per cent, but the conferees fixed 10 per cent as the acceptable variation in 1972 and said nothing else had to be done unless there was a census.

Democrats met informally with Conyers and other conferees Tuesday in an attempt to seek clarification, but persons who attended the meeting said confusion was rampant.

"I came out knowing less than when I went in — and that was nothing," said one member.

Conyers hurriedly had letters printed for each House member expressing his concern and fear over the conference version of the bill. He said he hopes to raise enough questions during debate today to bring about its defeat.

"This is worse than either the House or Senate versions," he said.

Eleven days were omitted when the new style calendar was adopted.
